1 | -->I believe if they do decide to use Missouri as a point of travel for the nuclear waste that all the proper precautions to make sure that there are no accidents be it in Missouri or any other state be taken before it is even decided what route they will take. I believe that during the travel of this waste that they clear that certain railroad of all traffic, including vehicular and other train traffic on that particular day, close it down except for the passage of this waste. That would more insure the safety of all involved. This should be carefully planned down to the last detail. I believe Missouri has spent enough cleaning up past waste and illnesses caused from accidents from toxins.
